

SHAREBOOKS ET AL. | SCIENCE AND SOCIETY

0

Embracing the unqualified opinion

0

Sheril KirshenbaumThe Death of Expertise: The Campaign Against Established Knowledge and Why It Matters Tom Nichols Oxford University Press, 2017. 268 pp.Not a Scientist: How Politicians Mistake, Misrepresent, and Utterly Mangle Science Dave Levitan Norton, 2017. 270 pp.

+ See all authors and affiliations

0

Science 14 Apr 2017:
Vol. 356, Issue 6334, pp. 144-145
DOI: 10.1126/science.aam6040SHARE

Amateurism is the mother of invention

0

Yoshiyasu Takefuji, Inventor/Professor,
Keio University

(15 April 2017)

0

I agree with both books. I proposed an idea of mobile phone with built-in camera to mobile phone manufacturers between 1995 and 1996. I was neither an expert of mobile phone nor that of camera. Many of manufacturers did not accept my proposal except Mitsubishi electric. Many experts said that digital cameras were enough for consumers. Consequently, Mitsubishi electric built the world first mobile phone with built-in camera in 1999 (LaPochee).

Competing Interests: None declared.

View Full Text